

Sigal Gottlieb
University of Massachusetts Dartmouth

Developing Time Filtering using a General Linear Method Approach

Time filtering has been used to enhance the order of accuracy of given methods. In this work, we should show how this is equivalent to generating a general linear method and use this approach to develop and analyze new time-filtering methods.